Notes on Use

If, at any stage of the proceedings, a parent desires but is financially unable to employ an attorney, the court shall appoint an attorney for the parent. A parent or custodian who is not a minor, a mentally ill person or a disabled person may waive counsel. The court shall appoint an attorney for a parent who is a minor, a mentally ill person or a disabled person unless the court determines that there is an attorney retained who will appear for and represent the interests of that person. The attorney appointed for the parent shall continue to represent the parent throughout the proceedings, including any appellate proceedings, unless relieved by the court upon a showing of good cause, or upon transfer of venue. The fees for the attorney may be assessed as an expense in the proceedings to be paid by the complaining witness, a person initiating the proceedings, a party or an interested party, other than the state, as determined by the court. Upon transfer of venue, the transferring court shall send to the receiving court a statement of expenses paid from the general fund of the transferring county.
